

Hi

Trying out this logo above taken from our website. What is your reaction.

This newsletter is promoting two things Firstly our film show of Wilding and secondly our Community Energy Event. For which we are looking for volunteers to help in advance or afterwards receiving and maintaining a list of applicants for heat maps.

Please find on the second page a poster you can copy for display or distribution to other organisations. There is also a copy of an article from the Ixworth Village Newsletter which you free to use to publicise the event.

Wilding – the film

Reviews of the book were overwhelmingly enthusiastic, the film even better.

It is the story of 20 years implementing a decision to abandon conventional farming on a worn-out estate in West Sussex, after deciding and turn it over to nature. Like most simple ideas it needed managing and dealing with the authorities. What has been created is a haven for wildlife of all sorts, encouraging rare and returning species.

The scheme has benefits for all including neighbouring farmers whose crops are better pollinated and protected against damaging insects despite their early concerns. It has proved that life can return to a degraded landscape.

For wildlife, Britain is one of the most depleted countries in the world. A quarter of our mammals face extinction, but the book Wilding, by Isabella Tree, proves that it's not too late, left to its own devices nature can recover.

The film is a lyrical homage to the natural world and those who care for it. Nature filming at its best.

This review says it all: Wilding – a life enhancing experience

How can we help?

Green Ixworth is partnering with Suffolk Climate Change Partnership (SCCP) and West Suffolk Council to provide a community energy event covering Western Suffolk to promote better insulation and energy efficient devices.

We can show through heat maps where your heating is being lost and advice on potential solutions using Local Authority grants, loans and subsidies. This applies to both house owners and tenants.

After a welcome from Peter Prinsley MP, there will be a brief presentation. After that it is your turn to quiz the experts at a number of stalls addressing:

- Insulation
- Heat pumps
- Alternatives to heat pumps
- Solar Power and batteries
- Electric vehicles and charging
- Listed and conservation area buildings
- Grants, loans and subsidies
